

THE CARD COLLECTOR'S BULLETIN

Volume IX

February I, 1947

Whole No. 46

LIEBIG ISSUES by G.Hindmarch.

Messrs. Liebig, of Antwerp, Belgium, have issued a long stream of trade cards over a period of many years. The vast majority of them are in sets of six, but there are occasional sets of twelve, and sometimes a first and second series of six cards each. The cards vary slightly in size but average around three by four inches. Each set has either all vertical or all horizontal designs.

Most of my cards are printed in French, but the cards are commonly printed in German and in Flemish. I have odd sets printed in Spanish and Italian, and one card in a language which I have not yet identified. The cards date from 1872, and were issued fairly frequently until 1914, by which date I, 101 different series had been issued. There was then, of necessity, a break until 1919, when issuance was resumed, and 330 further sets appeared when war once more intervened in 1940.

The general standard of production is remarkably high and in many cases it is superb. The cards are printed in a full range of colors and the artists have spared no pains to make attractive pictures. In this they have been assisted by having a large card to work on, which gives scope for backgrounds and supplementary details. For example - one set shows "The Sources of Important Rivers". In the picture of the Nile starting from Lake Victoria-Nyanza, we see the abundant papyrus reeds which obstruct the river's passage, crocodiles on the bank, and some of the aquatic birds which abound. By the rapids of the upper reaches of the Mississippi we see red Indians fishing. Alongside the young Yang-tse-Kiang, the greatest river of China, a Tibetan shepherd with a pipe a yard long stands beside his black-headed charges. Where the Amazon leaves Lake Lauricocha, we see the remains of an aqueduct, and other remnants of the ancient civilization of the Incas.

If we look through a large collection of Liebig cards, arranged in order of dates of issue, we can see their development, which in many ways is similar to the development of cigarette and other cards. The earliest issues were by way of being advertisement cards, the object being to display the pot of meat extract which is the commodity which the firm manufactures. Then comes a period when we have pictures of birds, flowers, children, women - a period when the cards are no longer pure advertisement cards, but they do not illustrate any particular subject. There is as yet no descriptive matter on the reverse, only recipes and testimonials. Soon we find the sets have a more definite object to illustrate, styles of architecture, composers, geological periods, and nationalities, but the earliest set which I have which carries a definite explanation on the reverse as well as a general title under the illustration is one entitled "Magic Explained" issued in 1894. Thereafter explanatory notes become more common and more elaborate and by 1904 the descriptive text is firmly established.

With so many sets issued it is difficult to pick out any individual ones which may be of greatest interest. If you like Nature Study, there are "Poisonous Snakes", "The Migration of Birds", "Termites", "Humming Birds", and in Scenery "The Coasts of France", "Italian Lakes", "The Isle of Capri", "Views of Morocco" and "Rivers of the Ardennes". In Military series are depicted the armies of the Balkan States, Germany, Italy, and Austria, also "Ballistics through the Ages", "Special Corps" and even a set on Military Bands. There are sets on such famous men as Mahomet, Bismark, Julius Caesar, Mozart, Rembrandt, Liebiges, sets on Egyptian Gods, Sun Worship, The Labor of Hercules, Medicinal Plants, Trees of different Latitudes, and for the ladies "Strange Feminine Hairstyles", "Honours awarded to Women", and "Marriage Customs".

---Editorial Notes: The above is taken, by special permission of Mr Hindmarch, from an article which he wrote for a British publication. We marvel at the number of series which this firm has produced and at first thought Mr. Hindmarch must mean cards instead of series as that figures to nearly 23 sets a year or almost two a month. He mentions no cards printed in English, although the product was sold there and cards issued there in English, as they were in America. We were also surprised at the early date they began. Here in America, Liebig cards are found with the old advertising cards although not in any great quantities. Possibly about 60 American issues are known or around 400 cards. None seem to bear the date of issue but most of them show data on consumption. One series giving yearly consumption as 8 million jars shows the 1887 calendar (Jan-June) as part of the design. About half of the sets show this 8 million consumption figure. A dozen sets show a smaller consumption figure and the remainder give no such data. We would judge U.S. issues as of the 1882-1892 period. While entirely in the English language, the early issues were printed in Paris, and later ones in Paris, London, Antwerp, and a few in Germany. We would be glad to hear from anyone who has any of the American issues. Mr. Hindmarch has a few duplicate French issues to exchange for U.S. tobacco cards.

20th CENTURY COLLECTION

My collection of over 3900 20th Century cards is for sale. The complete sets present number 26 and the condition throughout is very good. Here is a fine chance for some collector to acquire at one purchase a group of cards that it took years to assemble by constant buying from collectors and through auction sales.

Upon inquiry I will be glad to describe the cards in detail and name the price.

HUGH F. JOHNSON, 1137 CHESTNUT ST., BOWLING GREEN, KY.

Dr. Taylor recently sent us a most interesting manuscript entitled "Tobacco in the Life of America" which we enjoyed reading but which is too long to use in the Bulletin. Also, as it is entirely about Tobacco and not about cards in any way it is a bit outside the scope of our paper. We are always glad to see such things and use them if possible.

The BULLETIN is published on the first of every other month. Subscription, 30¢ per year. Adv. rate: 2¢ line; 50¢ half page; $1.00 full page. Address: J.R. BURDICK, 420 So. Crouse Ave., SYRACUSE 10, N.Y.

GET*TOGETHERS

When Wirt Gammon went to St.Louis to cover the last World Series He found himself out of luck - no hotel rooms available. It looked like a park bench, until he recalled that collector Charlie Barker is also a St.Louisian. He looked him up - and slept in a bed thereafter. Incidentally, it was the first time that Wirt had ever seen another fellows collection and the visit was most enjoyable to both.

Two other baseball fans now hob-nobbing together are Bill Christie and Walter Corson, both now on the Florida West coast near each other. It is regrettable that most of us are separated by so much distance that visits, even at long intervals, are all but impossible. But whenever you travel, check the route for known collectors, and make a call.

19th. CENTURY COLLECTION

My 19th century collection of small cards consisting of over 4140 different (no photos) is for sale. It contains 56 complete sets and 35 other sets in various stages of completion. This is a rare opportunity for a serious collector to procure at once what it would take years to accumulate. Under present conditions and demand I doubt whether it is even possible to put together these same cards.

Inquiries from responsible and serious collectors will receive prompt reply, at which time I will describe the collection in detail by sets and will quote price. These cards are in as fine condition as I could manage by constant purchase and replacement over a period of many years.

WHEN AND HOW MUCH?

With fair regularity, and in one form or another, two questions which we have discussed many times, continue to present themselves:

When were tobacco inserts first issued? Frankly, we don't know, and what's more, don't believe that anyone else knows. It is an old tradition that they originated in America, but that doesn't make it so, and similar claims for any other country do not seem to have any stronger foundation. There is some evidence that they first appeared around 1880, but we have yet to see conclusive proof. There were many tobacco advertising cards of that date and earlier and some of them could easily be mistaken for inserts. No manufacturer's records have survived. As a matter of fact, even if an insert issue could be proven for such an early date, there would be no proof that it is the first such issue. The question is somewhat analogous to "Who invented the automobile?" Just when the matter seems solved, somebody reports that someone operated a self propelled vehicle in Hamburg or Edinburgh a few years earlier.

The question is not one which should bother collectors unduly. The tobacco industry was an infant one in 1880 and if any cards were issued in that period they are not likely to have much effect on the average collection or collecting in general. We are quite sure, though, that tobacco inserts IN QUANTITY appeared about 1886. We think they are a direct result of James B. Duke's invasion of the great Eastern market. In April 1884 he arrived in New York city and proceeded to battle the big manufacturers established there. He gave them both barrels of every weapon there was and some new ones he himself invented. He asked and gave no quarter and in five years had them licked and bowing to his terms. Whether or not he "invented" insert cards is a question, but it is certain that he brought them into general use by practically all manufacturers and made them a part of the American life of the day.

Our second question concerns card values and price trends. It so happens that a lot offered at auction sometimes fails to get a bid and the owner immediately concludes that things are going to the dogs. Such things just happen at times in that type of selling. Even a good lot may not get a bid in any one particular sale, and conversely, a poor lot may happen to get a large number of excessively high bids.

The values in the present Catalog were established early in 1946 after judging many considerations. As we all know, a few months afterward there was a decided jump in practically all price levels, which would seem to make the Catalog about 20% too low today. However, this upsurge is now receding, and any theoretical rise of the past year is further offset by the fact that hobby goods are now, for the first time in five years, in competition with other luxuries and necessities of life. In HOBBIES for Dec. 1946, Mr. Lightner officially announces the end of boom prices in hobbies, due to the fact that hobby money can now be spent for automobiles, housing, and other conveniences of which we were deprived during the war years. We think that card values, during the war, were held to a fairly even keel and did not experience any "war boom" in prices as compared to antiques and some other things. In consequence, there will be no decided shrinkage due to that factor. The growing scarcity of cards and increasing cost of finding them will have an upward tendency on prices rather than a downward one. Likewise, we believe there will be no shortage of money for purchasing such cards as are offered, especially the scarcer types of cards. We do not anticipate any general price changes for 1947, although the year may develop rises or dips in various groups which can be recorded as they become stabilized. Foreign exchange controls are still holding up a large potential demand. On the whole, it seems likely that values will continue the gradual rise which has characterized the past ten years.

THE MAIL CARD SALES

Many new Bulletin subscribers have written in inquiring as to how they should proceed to buy cards via the sales. It's easy. Just send me a list of the lots that interest you, showing the highest price that you would pay for each lot. Use the Bid Sheet for convenience. It's all done by bidders like yourself. The majority of lots are sent in by collectors, too, who wish to dispose of their material. All lots are sold to the highest bidder at a slight advance over the second high bid. In case of ties, the first received gets the lot.

This sale contains a wide variety of lots and should interest all types of collectors. Your auctioneer appreciates material from all those who contribute regularly and any newcomers. This 18th is the longest sale to date. Good Collecting for the New Year to all.
